At age 28, Lisa was diagnosed with Budd Chiari Syndrome, a rare liver disease, and was placed on the transplant list. Two years later her doctors informed her that her best chance for survival was to have a "living donor" liver transplant. Her brother, Bob, was a match and donated 60 percent of his liver during a successful transplant in June 2003. Since the transplant, she has gone back to work full time as a pediatric nurse, gotten married and had a baby.

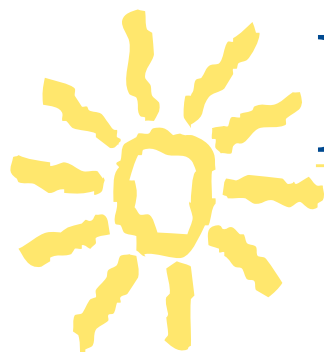

Please join the Organ/Tissue Donor Registry today and give someone else a second chance at life.
