Will received a blood transfusion in 1969 during Vietnam and was infected with hepatitis C, which was not identified at the time. By 2000, he was in end-stage liver disease, and placed on the transplant list. In November 2002, he received the gift of life thanks to a generous donor named Jeni, a 22-year-old paramedic working toward her nursing degree.

"Jeni's life ended way too soon, yet I am one of several people who are alive, healthy and happy because of her commitment to help others."
